Want to turn back the clock!! and give you back life and joy and strength and let you live a pain free headache free life without a chiari malformation. Dear God in Heaven I don't Understand!!! You were one of my best friends growing up Tyler. I heard about your passing a few days ago from a friend back in Evansville. It's been really hard the last few days. I'll never forget all the great times you, Drew, Stephen and I shared when we were younger. You're in my heart man. I'm really sorry I couldn't be there to see you. News travels so slowly when you are on the other side of the world. I'll never forget the time we were at your old house off of Oakhill Rd and it was the day before your parents had that house showing and we were goofing of and totally put a hole in your wall the size of a basketball even though it was my butt that put it there. Or riding dirt bikes out in Boonvegas. You were truely a great person and a hundred times better friend. You live on in everyone you touched in your life. Rhonda, Randy, Alex, Tyler and little Racer you are all in my prayers everyday. I miss you guys everyday. Love you man.

My Dear Tyler, Today I baked your chocolate chip cookie pie in honor of your 21st birthday 12 June; we walked the lake shore of Lake Earie with your "wickie" dog, racer; asked for a table not for 4, but 3; sat on the deck and listened to the chimes given at your passing as the thunder and lightning brought the wind and rain from the North. Each step we took and direction we turned, we missed you more than any words I know that could ever describe the void we are left to live in. A mother's love is eternal and this candle I have lit in your memory will never fade or flicker. Until it is time for me to see you in His presence, your loving Mommoo

Rhonda and Randy, I am so sorry for your loss of Tyler. Rhonda, I know how fond you were of Tyler - how proud you were of him. I recall the Lavaita Trip and how we talked about our kids. I remember the loving gestures and responses you had when we spoke of Tyler (and Alex too). I particularly recall Tyler helping the electrician (Mr. Martin) and how he said to me (as the coordinator and responsible for getting kids to the right places) - "this boy gets it. He's the only one you gave me today worth a hoot". I can hardly imagine the depth of your grief. I'm not sure I can say anything of comfort, but I know Tyler had love - love from you, love from God. May God Bless you all in this time of need. Jeff Hayden

I pray that through the pain you all can draw together as a family in not moving on but at least moving forward. Tyler was such a happy talented wonderful person and I know that he is enjoying the greatest reward ever imaginable at this moment. I know that it does not make it any easier but I hope you can find some peace in knowing that he is somewhere far better than this world and because of your influence in his life you will see him again one day. As Tyler got older he spent many hours in the garage working on his motocross bike. It did not surprise me that his field of choice was restoring cars and the inner workings of them. It was something that him and Randy had done together for many years. Making memories with family has always been important and I know that you have many many memories with the boys.
