Brian/Michelle, My heart goes out to you during this time of loss. I will continue to send positive thoughts your way as you pass through this difficult time. They say things get easier as time goes by... well, it never heals totally when you lose someone you love. What time does do is let you get past the sorrow and start to remember the good times! I hope that period in between is short and you can remember him only with a smile and a warmth in your heart.
