What Mom wrote in a book about her life..My parents came from Italy they worked as farmers. They came here for better prospects. One feature of my upbringing that I later relied on as an example in raising my own family was the love and devotion shown by my parents to each other and to their family and friends. The description that best fits my parents is hard-working, loving, honest people. My family's favorite meal was spaghetti (What else! She wrote) Movies that made a real impression – Gone with the Wind Our song was Sentimental Journey A great event out was dancing at Crystal Beach in Vermilion Our parents were excellent dancers – they danced the "jitterbug" .If there were only one thing I could teach you, it would be empathy and love for each other. Love of God and love of family.
