We met when our kids got married so we were mothers-in-law together. Then our husbands died and we were a couple of widows and we became fast friends. I don't know anyone with a bigger heart than Suzie. She'd give you her last dime and last slice of bread. I will miss her always "up" attitude. I loved her like a sister and we spent many hours playing cards. Life dealt her a lousy hand but she did her best to make lemonade. Always in my heart.

I still have the cat she gave us. She liked to ask about her when I saw her. She loved her kitties! Rest in peace Sue!
