Bobbi Salas lit a candle in honor of Robert.

I meet Bob through his wife Patty he was very nice man who loved His music. Patty had the friends me and Bonnie and Brenda who became the tree B's. When we got together at Their house he would go down to the basement and always want someone to come down there with him to listen to his music. He would go down and turn the volume up and play his music. It gave him so much joy. We couldn't even hear our self talk sometimes, My the Lord comfort you at this time
