Tamara "Tammy" J. McCormack, age 66, passed away peacefully on Tuesday, September 17, 2024, at Kingston of Vermilion after a long, courageous battle Multiple Sclerosis. Born on July 16, 1958, in Lorain, Ohio, to Richard "Mac" McCormack and Patricia (née Sposato) McCormack, Tammy was known for her tenacity, love for adventure, and her deeply independent spirit. A 1977 graduate of Lorain Catholic High School, Tammy was a talented athlete, serving as the pitcher for the softball team, and a gifted musician, playing the French horn in the school band. After high school, she attended Lorain County Community College and held various jobs throughout her life, ultimately finishing her career in distribution with USA Today Newspaper. Tammy had a passion for the great outdoors, finding joy in fishing and camping. She especially loved sharing her outdoor adventures with her nieces and nephews, creating memories that will last a lifetime. Determined, strong-willed, and fiercely independent, she was known for setting her mind to a task and seeing it through to completion. Her adventurous spirit, warmth, and love made her truly one of a kind. She is survived by her beloved mother, Patricia McCormack; her sister, Deborah L. McCormack; her brother, Terence McCormack (Cindy); nephews Eric and Billy McCormack; niece, Ashley O. McCormack; and nine great-nieces and nephews. Tammy was preceded in death by her father, Richard "Mac" McCormack; her brother, John F. McCormack; her great-niece, Julia R. McCormack; and her grandparents, John and Julia (née Jacobs) Sposato.
